Calls for Papers for the European Politeia journal

EUROPEAN POLITEIA is inviting papers for the next issue.

Last date of submission: 30.04.2019.

A previous, brief presentation (300 words) of the essay is required.

The Journal

European Politeia is a bi-annual journal of European law, public affairs and society published by the European Public Law Organization under the scientific supervision of the Greek Center of European Studies and Research (EKEME) of the EPLO.

The aim of this publication is to provide an additional forum for the ongoing debates on a broad range of issues and particularly those that transcend individual countries. It will hopefully make relevant voices from the South of Europe more accessible to a broader audience. It will be a rewarding exercise to draw from the expertise of many scholars from Greece and other countries. The publication will be open to various theoretical and political perspectives that spring from different experiences and methodological traditions. We do not intend to narrow the frame of the debates.

The calls for papers relate to the following topics. Please refer to the attachments for further information:

-Ten Years since the Lisbon Treaty

-The Balkans into Europe: A region transformed?

-The rule of law and the rise of “Illiberal democracies”: a Union without liberal principles?

Please send your brief and (once approved) manuscript to the editors (nikos@scandamis.org or mperakis@law.uoa.gr).
